DEAR FRIENDS:

What a year it was!

At the national level, the Supreme Court issued two historic decisions, returning marriage equality to California and overturning a key provision of the so-called “Defense of Marriage Act.” And by the time the Court ruled, pollsters reported that two-thirds of the state’s residents believed that lesbian and gay people deserved full equality when it came to marriage. We’ve come a long way since the Center founders began our work 45 years ago, and we have continued to play a significant role in every major civil rights battle fought by our community since then. And we will continue to fight, because we still have a long way to go.

The Center hit the ground running in 2013. In January, 29 graduates of the Emerging Leaders Program—the Center’s intensive internship training for young Chinese LGBT activists—returned to Los Angeles for a three-week Advanced Leadership Program. More than 40 faculty were assembled from throughout the United States to share their expertise and facilitate discussions among the interns. The cumulative impact of the Center’s program became unequivocally evident at this reunion—its graduates are now leading nearly every major facet of the LGBT movement in China.

Of course, one need not travel to Asia to observe the scope of the Center’s efforts. The last year was a tipping point in the Center’s work to combat bullying and suicide among LGBT youth. We started a groundbreaking partnership with ONE National Gay & Lesbian Archives and the Los Angeles Unified School District to develop LGBT-specific lesson plans to be integrated into L.A. County high school history curriculum. This effort will have an enormous impact on the development of textbooks that will be used far beyond Los Angeles in years to come. And our Project SPIN (Suicide Prevention Intervention Now) launched its groundbreaking “Out for Safe Schools” initiative. More than 30,000 LAUSD employees—from bus drivers to teachers and food servers—requested badges produced by the Center that are worn with their staff ID badges that boldly identify them as an “LGBT Ally.” A list of LGBT-related resources for students, including the Center, is printed on the back of the badges. The work of Project SPIN is rapidly becoming a national model for innovative school-based efforts to improve the lives of LGBT students.

This was also an extraordinary year in the area of health services. In November, the Center was designated as a Federally Qualified Health Center (FQHC). This makes the Center one of the few LGBT-specific health centers (and the only one in California) to receive this coveted recognition. Also in November, we completed expansion of our medical clinic, adding four exam rooms and new medical providers to expand our primary-care medical practice, including the revival of the Audre Lorde Lesbian Health Program. Sadly, the need for our services in this area continues to grow, particularly for people with HIV. We remain absolutely committed, with the help of our supporters, to provide the highest quality health care to the most vulnerable members of our community.

It is always difficult to single out just a few signature achievements given the depth and breadth of our services. But suffice it to say that the Center continues to meet the needs of thousands of clients each month who represent the full diversity of our community. And we do it with a relentless commitment to getting the biggest bang for our donors’ bucks. For the fourth year in a row, Charity Navigator gave the Center its highest rating (4 stars), an honor that fewer than one in 10 charities has received. None of this would be possible without the generous support of our individual, corporate and foundation sponsors. You make our vision of a better world a reality and, for that, you have our heartfelt gratitude!

Sincerely,

Lorri L. Jean
CEO
Because of the Center’s school, I have more potential than I thought. I’m moving up in life.

Abel Sandoval
Graduate of the Center’s Opportunities for Learning Charter High School

Lifeworks Program

LifeWorks is the Center’s youth development and mentoring program. We offer one-on-one, peer and group mentoring opportunities for lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, queer and questioning youth age 24 and under. Our goal is to help LGBTQ youth realize their goals and dreams by offering a safe space, positive and affirming role models and workshops and activities that are fun and educational.

More than 3,000 LGBT seniors and Baby Boomers (ages 50+) turn to us for help—taking part in social activities, health and wellness classes, support groups and more.

“Too often we ignore or pass by our elders, but they are the people who built this community.”

Kathleen Sullivan
Director of Seniors Services

Seniors Services Program

Focused on supporting and enriching the lives of LGBT adults aged 50 and older, the Seniors Services Program provides affordable housing and a broad array of free or low-cost social, educational and support services. The program offers more than 70 activities, events, classes and groups each month, serve more than 3,000 older adults each year. The department’s Creating Safe Spaces for LGBT Seniors has been used to train more than 2,000 providers of health and social services in the state of California.
A LOOK BACK:

JANUARY
Twenty-nine graduates from the Center’s China Emerging Leaders program return to Los Angeles for a three-week intensive Advanced Leadership Program with 45 “expert faculty” members from around the U.S.

FEBRUARY
The Center plays a lead role in the reauthorization of the federal Violence Against Women Act, which now includes explicit protections for LGBT people. The Center's lead staff attorney, Terra Slavin, receives personal commendation from U.S. Senator Patrick Leahy.

MARCH

MAY
The leadership of the Boy Scouts of America votes to allow gay Scouts to join the group but continues to ban LGBT adults from any involvement with the organization. The Center criticizes the decision and urges businesses to withhold sponsorship of the group.

JUNE
AIDS/LifeCycle raises a record-breaking $14.5 million—with the lowest cost of fundraising (26.7%) in the history of the event. More than 2,200 cyclists participate.

California becomes the 13th state where marriage for same-sex couples is legal after the U.S. Supreme Court rules on a challenge to Proposition 8 and overturns key portions of the so-called “Defense of Marriage Act.” As a result, married same-sex couples are now entitled to the same federal rights, responsibilities and benefits that all other married couples enjoy.

AUGUST
California Gov. Jerry Brown signs AB 1266, a groundbreaking law that offers protections to transgender students, allowing them to use the restroom appropriate to their gender identity and to participate on whichever sports team they believe matches their gender identity.

The Center is awarded a $1 million grant to lead outreach and education efforts (supported by 10 other subcontracted organizations) to promote LGBT enrollment in the Affordable Care Act (aka Obamacare).

OCTOBER
Center CEO Lorri L. Jean signs purchase agreement to buy the former Employment Development Department building located across the street from The Village at Ed Gould Plaza.

The Center announces a trailblazing partnership with One National Gay & Lesbian Archives and the Los Angeles Unified School District to develop LGBT-specific lesson plans to be integrated into L.A. County high school history curriculum. This will help schools comply with the California FAIR Education Act, which passed in 2011.

At a widely covered news conference, the Center launches its revolutionary “Out for Safe Schools” initiative in partnership with the Los Angeles Unified School District. More than 30,000 district employees—from bus drivers to teachers to cafeteria workers—request to wear badges that boldly identify them as LGBT allies.

Acclaimed director and Center Sustaining Donor Roland Emmerich hosts a $2,000 per ticket fundraising dinner at his home, raising $2.9 million ($2 million of which is a pledge for the capital campaign) for the Center.

The Center’s Leadership LAB works on the ground in Royal Oak, Michigan, and organizes numerous voter phone banks in Los Angeles in an effort to defeat anti-LGBT ballot measures. Royal Oak organizers characterize the LAB’s effort as “pivotal”.

NOVEMBER
The Center’s application for designation as a Federally Qualified Health Center is approved, making the Center one of the few LGBT-specific health centers (and the only one in California) to receive this coveted designation.

Center completes expansion of its health center on the third floor of the McDonald/Wright building, adding four exam rooms. Three new medical providers are hired to expand primary care medical practice, including the revival of the Audre Lorde Lesbian Health Program.

DECEMBER
A federal judge legalizes marriage for same-sex couples in Utah. By year’s end, same-sex couples can legally marry in 18 states plus the District of Columbia.

Once again, Charity Navigator gives the L.A. Gay & Lesbian Center its highest rating (4 stars). The Center is among only 7% of the rated charities that have received this honor four years in a row.

Circle of Life

In recognition of their commitment to the ongoing work of the Los Angeles LGBT Center, we honor the Founders and Members of the Circle of Life. In planning their estates, these men and women have joined together to create a living legacy of hope for coming generations of lesbians and gay men. Founders have made commitments of $1,000,000 or more.
